News from the Maths Department

Recently, ourselves and several other Year 9 and 10 maths students took a trip to the Camden Centre in London to take part in the AIMS GCSE Maths Conference. We listened and took part in three very different yet very interesting talks on different elements of maths.

The first talk was made by Matt Parker. We all found this talk very interesting as he spoke about the world of math used in technology. For instance, he showed us how every image you see on your phone is actually a spreadsheet made from clocks of green, red and blue squares. We also found out loads of amazing ways maths is used in everyday appliances.

Our second talk of the day was made by Matt Allanbach and was all about atoms. He had previously worked at CERN as a physicist. He shared with us what it was like to work there and the experiment they did. It was an eye opening talk and included lots of great information.

And finally the third talk was made by Marcus de Sautoy, who we later discovered went to Gillotts, and I quote as he saw out uniform 'Chiltern Edge, my rival school'. His talk was really intriguing, taking maths and using it in fun ways. We learned the patterns that appear in the lottery and found the probability of winning.

To summarise the day, it was a great experience and we think we can say on everyone's behalf, a great laugh and a lot of fun. Thank you to the teachers who made the trip possible, Miss Dryley, Miss Dowling, Mr Gregory and Mrs Boys.
